

Seeds of Change

Working for Nature and More Biodiversity at the Youth Academy

Short-term volunteering project in an international group for young adults from various European countries and Germany

February 18 - March 20, 2026 at Jugendakademie Walberberg (between Cologne and Bonn in the west of Germany)

What to expect:

- Ecological and handicraft/construction projects at the Youth Academy
- Encounters with other young adults from different countries and the chance to make international friends
- Workshops on topics such as biodiversity, climate change, and sustainability
- Living with a host family in Brühl and learning about local climate protection projects
- Joint excursions to Cologne or Bonn

You are between 18 and 30 years old?
You would like to meet young adults from other countries?
You enjoy outdoor work?
You are interested in ecological topics such as sustainability?

Then sign up now!!

When?

Working days Mon-Fri, 9am-4:30pm
Weekends off
On-arrival and closing seminar

Where?

Jugendakademie Walberberg
Wingert 6
D-53332 Bornheim-Walberberg

For whom?

8 young adults from different European countries and Germany.
All young adults are welcome, including those who need language support or barrier-free accommodation, for example.

Language

A basic knowledge of English and a little courage to communicate non-verbally are all you need.

Costs

Accommodation, meals, and the program are free of charge.
Participants receive a small allowance of €217 (€7/day).

Further information & registration

Judith Schäfer-Feldhoff
Phone: +49 2227/90902-16
Email: feldhoff@jugendakademie.de

Registration deadline

December 15, 2025

Sponsored by:

Co-funded by the European Union

www.jugendakademie.de

/diejugendakademie

/JugendakademieWalberberg

